Reflection – Leo's Lens

© Nick Brodie

It is hard to be a peacemaker in an age of conflict and division, but this is just what we are all called to be. One of the best ways for us Christians to be peacemakers is, as Pope Leo says, ‘to love and nurture fraternity.’ ‘Fraternity’, the Pope points out, ‘stems from something deeply human.’ As he suggests, ‘it is certain that our humanity is best fulfilled when we exist and live together.’ Fraternity is a calling, written in our being by our Maker.

Jesus shows us how to fulfil that calling. As the Pope says, ‘to overcome the shadows that threaten it, we need to go to the source, and above all to draw light and strength from Him who alone frees us from the poison of enmity.’ Following his predecessor, Pope Francis, Pope Leo also encourages us to look to the witness of St Francis of Assisi whose approach to others was ‘the inclusive way’. St Francis of Assisi ‘placed all human beings on the same level, precisely because he recognised them in their common destiny of dignity, dialogue, welcome and salvation.’

As the Pope affirms, the welcoming of others signifies ‘a universal fraternity’, and thereby ‘expresses an essential feature of Christianity’. Jesus’ call to his followers is to become a blessing for others, proclaimers ‘of the Good News destined for the salvation of all.’
